Bringing entertainment to you

For 30 days Barnstaple's pubs, cafés, clubs and a kitchen come to life with a vibrant array of progressive and exceptional performances. Expect anything from world jazz to ska, contemporary folk to indie electro and spoken word to fringe theatre.

The Fringe continues to provide a stage for extraordinary local talent alongside more established and highly regarded artists from the UK and abroad, with acts from as far afield as Cameroon, Jamaica and Poland.

With a selection of gigs every night of the week and over 75% of them being FREE, there really is no excuse to stay at home this June.

What's the Future for North Devon?

Gallery Café ... Tues 1, 7.30pm, £3 (£5 for both debates)

Tonight Stewart Wallis, the executive director of the new economics foundation, will introduce the Festival debate and challenge you to reflect on what it means to live and work in North Devon, now and in the future.

What will you do when petrol is £4 a litre? Can a greener economy work? Can there be a no-growth economy? Do our major towns have to be clones of others or can they retain their own individuality? Who do the bankers represent?

You can then continue the debate: add your comments to our online blog, to be considered by Stewart for Part 2 on Sun 27 June (see p48).

The Mountain and the Trees

The Factory, Petroc ... Tues 1, 7.30pm,

The brainchild of multi-instrumentalist Jon Janes, The Mountain and The Trees line-up changes with the weather and, often, with whoever in the crowd is brave enough to step on stage to play along. A two, three or four piece, your guess is as good as mine!

Genre-wise, The Trees have too many effects pedals for folk, and too many banjos for rock-n-roll, they sit somewhere between folk-pop or folk 'n' roll. The Trees' performances contain a variety of instruments, from banjo to harmonica and bells to drums all complemented by the spontaneous foot tapping and humming of the audience.

£5 (on the door only)

Led Bib

Broomhill Art Hotel --- Wed 2, 8pm, £10 (£15 with buffet)

Relentlessly dodging definition, Led Bib are both a maverick jazz band and an unlikely rock quintet. The Walthamstow based five-piece have torn apart the jazz world with their avant-jazz-euphoric-rock explosions of improvisation and pride themselves on side-stepping convention, with incendiary results. Combining the energy and passion of a rock outfit with the technical ability of trained jazz musicians their effect is exhilarating.

PickPockets & SkyRockets

with support from George Ratcliffe

The White Horse --- Wed 2, 9pm, Free

No strangers to the North Devon music scene, Sam Ratcliffe and Pete Buffery return from their studies in London with their guitar-infused, pop electronica.

PickPockets' songs feature simple melodies and endearing hushed lyrics about friendship, with a blissful and innocent optimism. Their sunny acoustic guitar work and xylophones are the perfect accompaniment to a cool drink and warm June evening.

Catch them now before they get swallowed up by London.

Rory McLeod

Gallery Café --- Wed 2, 8pm, £8 (+50p Love Arts payment)

Rory McLeod is a charismatic, one man soul band, poet and storyteller. A modern travelling troubadour, Rory uses a multitude of improvised instruments from tap shoes to spoons combined with harmonica, guitar and trombone to tell his unique uplifting stories.

Rory has travelled the globe for different reasons at different times, from Asia to the Middle East and from Gambia to Cuba, and other nooks and crannies of the earth. His songs reflect these diverse corners of the globe and take you on his journey.

Set to vibrant music with bouncy rhythms, infectious riffs and nifty tunes Rory's dynamic tales are best appreciated live – don't miss this opportunity.

Octoberman

The Factory, Petroc ... Wed 2, 7.30pm, £5 (on the door only)

Vancouver's Octoberman is Marc Morrisette, an alt-country singer-songwriter reminiscent of Bright Eyes and Neil Young. His debut album These Trails Are Old And New, was a beautiful collection of globetrotting observations which captured the sights, colours, smells, tastes and the moods of the places he's travelled – reminiscent of Jack Kerouac's On the Road.

Since iTunes featured Trapped in a New Scene as their free single of the week there has been a buzz about Octoberman's latest album Fortresses. This upbeat and country rocking album shows how Morrisette's songs have evolved into muscular, fleshed out sonic explorations.

Sally Night Quartet

Claytons ... Thurs 3, 9pm, Free

Sally Night's rich and velvety voice exudes warmth and is often compared to that of Billie Holiday. Her unique and captivating performance blends cool jazz, swing, blues and smooth R&B and is enriched by her fresh original song-writing style, with catchy lyrics and irresistible melodies.

With sincere, personal interpretations and a talent for touching and humorous story-telling, Sally seduces her audiences and consistently receives rave reviews. 'Sassy swing vocalist with excellent technique and a powerful voice.' Time Out

Sally will be appearing with the superb Craig Milverton Trio.

Paul Lamb & the King Snakes

The Olive Branch --- Thurs 3, 8.30pm, Free

Back by popular demand, multiple award-winning Best Blues Harmonica Player Paul Lamb returns with his authentic blues, swing and good time band.

The band also features former Strawbs and Meal Ticket bass player Rod Demick, lead guitarist Ryan Lamb, rhythm guitarist and vocalist Chad Strenz (Big Town Playboys & Shout Sister Shout) and amazing swing drummer Mike Thorne.

Paul Lamb & The King Snakes take the blues to a new level, one that will both fill the dance floor and please blues fans alike!

Amy Newton Showcase

Alan Deane with support from Roy Newton

Lilico's ... Thurs 3, 8.45pm, Free

New for 2010 the Fringe presents a series of showcase sessions at Lilico's, hosted and programmed by Amy. Each session will feature an intro from Amy Newton, followed by a local support artist and a national headline act.

Amy Newton

As a well-respected local singer/songwriter, Amy's fanbase spreads across the South West and beyond, even to Canada. Her highly developed and individualistic guitar work and catchy choruses remain with you long after she has stopped playing.

amynewton.com

Alan Deane

This celtic troubadour mixes good-old Irish favourites along with raw 60's anthems and a bit of British and American folk-rock. Alan adds a Guinness twist to the songs of Donovan, Cat Stevens, Lindisfarne, Bob Dylan and Neil Young, along with a tune or two from more recent times; the likes of Oasis, U2 and The Levellers.
newgrainmusic.com

Roy Newton

For those of you old enough to remember Roy was the lead member of the duo Second Spring. Today he plays folk and blues music, some of his own tunes plus some covers.

The King Blues

Inn On The Square --- Fri 4, 8pm, £12 (+Booking fee), 16+

The King Blues defy convention; unafraid to mix up dub bass lines, doo-wop a cappella songs, ska rhythms, Lonnie Donegan-styled skiffle, British folk and gritty poetry, their sound is stripped-down, and one where ukuleles, acoustic guitars and melodicas feature heavily. This is punk music as it was intended - engaging, forward-thinking and all encompassing.

kingblues.com

Sonic Fusion

The White Horse ... Fri 4, 9.30pm, Free

Having spent the last decade entertaining crowds at weddings, festivals and events, Sonic Fusion know just how to mix the perfect cocktail of popular songs from swing to soul that make you want to get up and dance.

As a seven piece band, Sonic Fusion create their own arrangements of music from Queen to The Blues Brothers and Aretha Franklin to Lily Allen, incorporating their unique brass sound.

Sonic Fusion have performed with the likes of Joss Stone, supported The Wurzels and sold out for two summer seasons at the Landmark Theatre, proving they are a band to be reckoned with.

Word of Mouth

Boston Tea Party ... Sat 5, 2pm, Free

Does the word poetry frighten you? You don't have to be scared; we won't bite!

Word of Mouth presents an afternoon of lyrics, spoken word, performance poetry, rap and live music. Come and enjoy vocal treats from a selection of artists from around the country, uniting to perform their favourite work in a relaxed atmosphere surrounded by comfy chairs, tea cups and bottles of beer.

DJ's will introduce the proceedings whilst the interval will be filled with live music from The Brizzacks. Performers include Martin Parker, Colin Shaddick, Chris Gower, Jon Freeman, Robert Barrat, Edan Dart and One Quarter Geordie.

Marcin Wasilewski Trio

Gallery Café --- Sun 6, 7.30pm, £12, student £5 (+50p Love Arts payment)

Marcin Wasilewski - piano
Slawomir Kurkiewicz - bass
Michal Miskiewicz - drums

Few will forget Marcin's last visit to the Gallery, and fewer still will want to miss this return from one of Europe's outstanding trios. Their 2007 ECM recording January reinforced their reputation as one of the most outstanding contemporary jazz groups. Their friend and mentor trumpeter Tomasz Stanko: 'In the entire history of Polish jazz we've never had a band like this one. They just keep getting better and better.'

Last year, the trio appeared at the Sounds, No Walls Berlin Festival and were nominated for the Paul Acket Award 2009 by an international committee of jazz critics.

'Their years together have resulted in an ensemble with an utterly symbiotic creative flow.' Don Heckman, Los Angeles Times

Boston Tea Party House Band

Boston Tea Party --- Sun 6, 12.30pm, Free

The house band is a unique jazz project. All the musicians are either part of the Boston Tea Party business, or are professionals who regularly frequent the coffee houses around the West Country.

The line-up changes constantly; for this session the rhythm section is the Bristol based Dale Hambridge Trio, the vocalist is Mel Schroeder and the frontline horns will include rising star Nick Malcolm (trumpet & flugelhorn), who has also written some new music for this event.

The emphasis of this lunchtime session is on spontaneous straight-up jazz for everyone.

Peter Bruntnell Showcase

Eddy Johns with support from Jog On Robot

Lilico's --- Mon 7, 8.45pm, Free

Following on from the success of last year's showcase sessions, hosted and programmed by Peter Bruntnell, we welcome a weekly dose of talented musicians hand selected by Peter himself. Each session will feature a local support artist, followed by an intro from Peter and a national headline act.

Peter Bruntnell

Peter is considered by Rolling Stone magazine to be 'one of England's best kept musical secrets', and The Independent as 'one of the finest songwriters in Britain'. He delivers acoustic driven, big, dreamy and melodic songs with a dab of psychedelia.

myspace.com/peterbruntnell

Eddy Johns

London based Eddy has a healthy fan-base on the thriving acoustic music scene, with his trademark, textured finger-style approach on guitar, surreal lyrics and drifting melodies. Influenced by folk artists such as Simon & Garfunkel, Bob Dylan, Nick Drake and Fleet Foxes, Eddy's songs produce 'beautiful poetic imagery'.

Kat Marsh

with support from Steve Strong

The White Horse --- Wed 9, 9pm, Free

Plymouth's queen of soul, Kat Marsh, is a multi instrumental diva, on a one woman mission to create the biggest and brightest sounds around. Kat's live sets showcase incredible three dimensional looping skills alongside big vocals and stomping beats.

myspace.com/katmarsh

In comparison, Steve Strong is a one man collection of beats, guitar and lush, textural melodies. His music seems to encompass many different styles without feeling contrived. Every strand of inspiration in Steve's music is carefully placed.

Zöe Schwarz & Rob Koral

PizzaExpress ... Tues 8, 7.30pm, £15 (meal & music, booking essential see p5)

Having performed at the famous London PizzaExpress in Soho, Ronnie Scott's and countless UK Jazz Festivals Zoë Schwarz takes a trip to the South West to perform at our very own PizzaExpress as part of the Fringe, to prove that pizza really does feed great music!

Zoë is a charismatic vocalist who, together with guitarist Rob Koral, performs a selection of jazz standards and the occasional self-penned song, reminiscent of the inimitable duet of Joe Pass and Ella Fitzgerald.

London jazz critic Chris Parker describes them as 'one of the most engagingly natural partnerships in jazz, Zoë's unaffected vocal style is particularly well suited to the blues, and is ably supported by Rob's flawless guitar skills'.

Rural Jazz Alliance

Claytons --- Thurs 10, 9pm, Free

This collaboration of local musicians perform a unique and vibrant mix of their own compositions along with creative interpretations of latin-jazz works. Their music draws inspiration from latin and soul jazz movements fused with elements of flamenco, folk, rock, afro-beat, oriental music and funk.

The Rural Jazz Alliance's sound is firmly grounded by a strong groove-driven rhythm section, distinctive harmonies and fluid melodic interplay between the lead instruments.

The line up includes Jules Moberly on flamenco and jazz guitar, Malcolm MacDonald on soprano sax, Naomi Chunilal on flute, John Bangham on keyboards, Jamie Adam on bass and Frank Rawle on drums.

Hai La Drum

Zena's ... Sat 12, 12.30pm, Free (table bookings essential see p5)

Led by the astonishing violin virtuoso Baz Stanescu, this quartet brings the traditional music of the Balkans to Barnstaple. The band features Pete Watson (accordion), Jason Henson (guitar) and Dan Sheppard (double bass).

Stanescu was born in Bucharest into a family of gypsy musicians; he began playing the violin at the age of 7 where it rapidly became clear there was a maestro in the midst. Stanescu plays 'with a panache and musical integrity I've only seen matched by Maxim Vengerov' London Evening Standard.

Hai La Drum's repertoire is a fantastic combination of Romanian melodies, Russian classics and Django-style gypsy swing, all performed with warmth and vivacity.

Martin Harley

with support from Blue Zoots

Boston Tea Party ... Sat 12, 8pm (food

6.30pm), £10 (+50p Love Arts payment)

This contemporary singer/songwriter and extraordinary guitarist blends swinging contemporary Americana with sleazy acoustic blues-rock and mesmerising, well-crafted ballads.

In 2009, the Martin Harley Band's profile grew dramatically; they supported many UK shows for James Morrison, played two critically acclaimed shows at Glastonbury and were given the rare honour of permission from Tom Waits to record a version of his song Chocolate Jesus.

For this intimate and solo performance Martin will showcase his unique guitar skills, vocals and warm personality that won him this honour.

Owls with support from Nick Saunders

Lilicos --- Mon 14, 8.45pm, Free

Owls are a three piece band from Swansea, South Wales. Formed in spring 2008 and featuring former members of the critically acclaimed band The Caves (who performed as part of the 2008 & 2009 Fringe), they have been making waves of their own.

Owls catchy pop is receiving nationwide airplay and has been described by BBC's Adam Walton as 'frankly outstanding music with an irresistible tug that fills me with joy', whilst their records have been deemed 'wonderfully melodic'.

Nick Saunders

With a haunting and mellifluous voice and intuitive acoustic guitar playing Saunders channels the spirit of Nick Drake and the warmth of James Taylor.

Apples & Snakes performance poetry

Gallery Café ... Wed 16, 8pm, £9.50, students £5 (+50p Love Arts payment)

Gale warning! Tempest to hit the North Devon coast!

Yes, it's a forthright foursome of performance poets, headed by the mighty Kate Tempest. A brave new Shakespeare for a troubled world, wrenching rhythms from hip-hop and words from the heart, she's currently leaving a trail of dazed punters in her wake.

Kate Tempest

Byron Vincent

Also playing puckishly with audiences is Byron Vincent, disher-up of comedic flippancy and poems that turn all serious on you when you're least expecting. Molly Naylor, meanwhile, is a confident, lyrically astute poetico-storyteller, straight out of Norwich and now making waves nationally. Tarrbaby with support from Katie Kerslake

Lilico's ... Thurs 17, 8.45pm, Free

Tarrbaby is the personal project of singer and instrumentalist Jonny Tarr. In 2006, armed with a bunch of instruments and his voice, Jonny set out to write songs for himself by himself. Influenced by Prince, Stevie Wonder, Jay-Z and Marvin Gaye, the Tarrbaby sound is live funky dance, with honest soul-inspired vocals and a jazz infused twist.

Tarrbaby regularly plays at most of London's more soul-inclined venues and as a saxophonist with house DJ collectives such as Hed Kandi and Miss MoneyPennies.

Stand Up, Sit Down

Boston Tea Party --- Sat 19, 2pm, Free

North Devon's aspiring young comedians present an afternoon of stand-up comedy. These promising comics aged 14 to 19, including Steve Newman and Joe Munday, have devised their own work in workshops with Suman Mathur who runs The Plough Arts Centre's Comedy Club for young people.

Workshops: Think you're funny? Want to have a go at stand-up comedy? Starting Sun 2 May, weekly workshops will lead up to this event. Featuring improvisation exercises and games you'll learn and develop comedy skills. There is no pressure to perform, just enjoy. For info or to book: 07891 951648

Ay Ducane and Harry Mundy

Boston Tea Party --- Sun 20, 2pm, Free

Featuring Galih Richardson on vocals and Francis Newington on guitar, Ay Ducane play a distinct mix of folk and blues. Galih's growling vocals meet Francis' percussive guitar playing to create a rich sound.

Their music reaches deep into classic Americana, whilst lyrically its vibrant imagery ranges from the fantastical to the familiar, and depicts their hometown London.

Alex Highton with support from Jim Jones and Dave Little

Lilico's ... Mon 21, 8.45pm, Free

Influenced by the likes of Randy Newman, Nick Drake, Bert Jansch and Joni Mitchell, Alex creates music that is sublime and hypnotic. Each song feels like a story, unfolding as you listen. His voice is light, and airy and his instrumentation accomplished.

On the back of some demos that he recorded at home in Cambridgeshire, Alex's songs have been played on Channel 4's Hollyoaks, BBC Radio 6 and garnered the support of A-List Hollywood actor Ashton Kutcher. This singer/songwriter is destined for impressive things.

Wang Xiao

Fullam Restaurant ... Tues 22 & Wed 23, 6.30pm, £25 (performance & banquet, booking essential see p5)

Born in China, Wang Xiao began learning the erhu (Chinese two stringed fiddle) when she was just 6 years old. With a passion for this instrument she went on to graduate from the renowned Wuhan Conservatory of music in China.

In 1999 Wang joined the Headquarters Arts Troupe of the Henan Provincial People's Armed Police as its erhu soloist and in 2001 she took part in the Luoyang Casio Young Instrumentalists Competition, where she won a Silver Prize, and in the same month, a Gold Prize in the Henan Provincial 'Hundred Fountains Cup' Young Instrumentalists Competition.

Before leaving her homeland for the UK, Wang was both the erhu and banhu soloist for the Luoyang Symphony Orchestra. We are fortunate to have such an accomplished master of the erhu to perform here in Barnstaple.

Inn On The Square (Upstairs and Downstairs) and The Baptist Hall
Thurs 24 to Sun 27, Thurs & Fri 4pm to midnight, Sat noon to midnight, Sun noon to 8pm, £4 (conc £2)

From the sublime to the ridiculous, from comedy to tragedy and back again, Fringe TheatreFest has something to delight both the committed theatre-goer and the TheatreFest 'newbie' in the intimacy of specially created theatre spaces in Barnstaple's town centre.

69 performances of 23 different productions adds up to 4 days of intense activity. The Inn on the Square boasts two studio spaces, playing host to a variety of comedy, drama, cabaret and performance poetry. At the other end of Boutport Street, The Baptist Hall provides a larger stage for dance, musical cabaret and big cast dramas. And there is an additional mystery venue: one of the plays unfolds in the kitchen of a house not far from The Square.

Enjoy humorous takes on the impact of reality TV, the smoking ban, baby boomers, football and dentistry. Be moved by dramatic treatments of Macbeth's final hours, Elizabeth I, kidnapped journalists and a young Devon soldier. Lose yourself in the glory of song, the delight of dance and the power of performance poetry. Thrill to the adventures of The Famous Five revisited.

For full details of the companies and productions, a timetable and a guide to the venues, visit the Fringe TheatreFest 2010 website.

Asere

The Factory, Petroc ... Thurs 24, 8pm, £8 (+Booking fee)

This 7 piece Cuban jazz band formed, in the 1990s, to create music with a contemporary edge that maintained the feeling of the songs performed by their forefathers. Staying true to an acoustic base Asere developed a fresh sound with inventive songwriting and a soulful groove, perfect for dancing.

Asere have released 4 albums, their latest Junio Groove recently received a 4 star review in the Guardian, and they continue to tour internationally. They were last seen in North Devon performing with legendary drummer Billy Cobham, as part of the 2008 North Devon Festival.
