As your local arts charity, we are so grateful to all the many generous and likeminded people who contribute their time, energy and financial support to our success in these times of reduced funding opportunities.

A country road. A tree. Evening.

Vladimir and Estragon meet as dusk approaches. Estragon tries to remove his boot. Vladimir examines his hat. A conversation begins, a joke is interrupted. A carrot is eaten. The two men quarrel, and then embrace. Unannounced, two eccentric travellers arrive. Seemingly master and servant, one stands weighed down at the end of a long rope, the other carries a whip.

So begins Samuel Beckett's 60-year-old masterpiece, a ground-breaking, anarchic meditation on the meaning of life and death. Part allegory, part burlesque, Beckett's unique, timeless play moves seamlessly between absurdist comic sketch and captivating philosophical drama.

We are delighted to welcome The Cremona Quartet to our new classical series, Spirits and Spiritual, as they embrace the theme performing Beethoven's Quartet Op.132 which incorporates a visionary hymn in Lydian mode as part of the slow movement.

Hailing from Italy, the quartet is internationally renowned for their 'extremely mature and lyrical sound' and 'tight blend and immaculate voicing'.

Formed in 2000 at the Stauffer Academy in Cremona, the Quartet continued their studies with Hatto Beyerle and in 2005 the Quartetto di Cremona received a Borletti-Buitoni Trust Fellowship; their dedication to their work as a string quartet shows through their music.

To enhance your visit to North Devon Theatres why not order a Pre-show Bite before the performance. We will be offering home-made set meals before some shows, which will mean less rushing down a meal at home. Instead you can arrive at the Theatre from 6pm, relax, fill your belly, enjoy a drink and then be entertained (and no dishes to clean up).
